COLLECTION OF ROMAN FAMILY DENARI.

Having disposed of his entire Collection of BRONZE COINS OF ROME through the list published in NUMISMA, less than two years ago, Mr. Richard H. Lawrence has now decided to offer also his most complete Collection of SILVER COINS of the ROMAN REPUBLIC through the same channel which served his purpose so admirably and economically on the former occasion.

It may be said that the Silver Coins struck during the last 300 years of the Roman Republic offer many special if not unique attractions to the Collector. Unlike the Autonomous and Regal Coins of Greece, many can still be obtained at a comparatively moderate cost; all are of uniform size. Their historical interest is great; for where else can one find depicted the features of those stern men who "lived to sway the world," whose names are to-day as familiar to our ears as those of a Napoleon or Washington! The variety of the types and their general good preservation, as well as the facility of classification, place them also above any other single series of Ancient Coins in point of interest or availability for special or general collections. For these reasons, and also on account of the special intelligence developed in the formation of this collection, its unusual completeness and extent, it is hoped that Collectors far and near will send liberal orders and make important selections.

Orders will be executed as received until December 31st next; until June 1st the Coins will be on exhibition at my office each Saturday, from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., or can be seen at other times by special appointment. No rebate whatsoever will be made, and all expenses and risk of transportation are at the buyer's risk.

ED. FROSSARD,
787 and 789 Broadway, New York.

Orders for all Auction Sales of Coins in New York carefully executed in person, at lowest possible prices, and under personal guarantee.
